

cemetery, March 11th.

Died, March 6th, of pneumonia, John, son of John and Esther Bleath, aged 15 years. It was a hard blow indeed for the sorrow stricken parents who buried a son, a young man not two years ago. The deceased, just entering manhood, was a hard working boy, kind, respected and liked by those who knew him. He was sick only a few days, and all that could be done for him by kind friends and relatives was done. The parents have the sympathy of the entire community. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. L. Mooney to a crowded house. A large circle of friends followed the remains to the cemetery.
