

VJC Cagers Set for Series

VAN NUYS — Valley College's basketball squad tightened its defense and sharpened its offense in preparation for the Sam Barry Memorial Basketball Tournament slated to open Wednesday at the Glendale College gym.

"We fully expect to be in contention all the way," Coach Ralph Caldwell said about his Valley cagers. "It should be a well-balanced tournament with a lot of exciting games."

Won 7, Lost 8

Previous encounters with the best in junior college circles found Valley winning seven while losing eight since tournament play started in 1950-51.

Named in honor of the late Sam Barry, former cage mentor at SC, the tournament is sponsored jointly by the Glendale Kiwanis Club, Glendale Parks and Recreation Division and Glendale College, with all proceeds going to the Kiwanis Underprivileged Children's Fund.

Sixteen teams have accepted invitation to compete in this year's seventh annual tournament.

Zoning Rule to Wall Off Rancho del Valle

CANOGA PARK—A 5-foot brick wall costing $7500 will soon cut off Rancho del Valle, crippled children's home, from the West Valley community.

This was determined by the Los Angeles City Planning Commission when Rancho's five-acre site was rezoned from agricultural to R-1 in line with a Valley-wide over-all zoning plan.

"The home will have to comply with the zoning laws just like everybody else," Huber E. Smutz, zoning administrator said.

Housing Under Way

"Actually, Rancho del Valle is not even supposed to be operating in that area, but we have given them permission to run their school, providing they meet certain established zoning principles," he stated.

"The society is doing a good job," Smutz added, "but it is impossible for us to

N. Hollywood Kiwanian Named C of C President

NORTH HOLLYWOOD—The North Hollywood Kiwanis Club has added another feather to its cap.

Richard Denaple, one of their members, has been elected to serve as president of the North Hollywood Chamber of Commerce during the coming year.

A Kiwanis spokesman said that out of 17 Chamber presidents elected during the past 17 years, 12 of them have been members of the North Hollywood Kiwanis Club.

Family Church to Open Officially in Canoga Park

CANOGA PARK — The West Valley Family Church, 2222 Saticoy St., will function as an official community organization on Jan. 1.

Increase in attendance at Sunday worship services forced the church's temporary board of directors to make the decision.

The Rev. Bernard Brunsting, former pastor of two large churches and a radio minister, officiates at morning and evening services.
